

Use Article Marketing to Promote Your Website Effectively

As a result of article marketing, you will discover, that when you promote your website writing articles, as your marketing strategy, it is a fast and simple way to build your credibility as an expert in your field. Most webmasters write how-to articles to do just that. This is a proven way to provide tremendous benefits for your website, including link popularity and search engine rankings. Writing how-to articles to promote your website is a very effective way to show yourself as one of the leading experts in your industry. Through giving your customers and clients valuable information, they will come to appreciate what you have to share with them and look up to you as an expert who can help them solve their problems. You will discover as you're going through article directories and submitting your articles that there are many people who need help, no matter what the topic is. When your article is approved, all you have to do is wait a week or two. Then go back, login to your account and check the article statistics to see how many times your article was viewed. You will see for yourself, many people do need help. Stay focused. Whether your focus is on how to write a long article or how to write a short article, your main objective should be on how to help your readers. To be recognized as an expert you must please your readers by giving them helpful information. It doesn't matter how long your article is or how short it is, it's what you put in it that counts. This is where article marketing is at it's best. Customers buy because they have a problem to solve. Whether it's how to promote a website or how to write articles, the best approach to use is to write an article that will resolve the problem. When using this approach you will appear to them as the helpful expert who dedicated your time as their problem solver. By giving them the answers to the questions they're looking for, you will stand as a credible person in your industry and soon after, profits will follow. Why? Because you have just gained their trust. As you can see, the most effective way to accomplish your goal is to stay focused and write an article on a topic that is of interest to your target market. Write your topic to make it easy to read and understandable. If a customer does not comprehend what you are trying to say, of what benefit it is to them? So be careful to write your text so that your customers get the perspective of it. Whenever possible, it would be your best benefit to write on topics from your own personal experience. By using this approach, you'll find that it will hold your readers attention longer because it's coming from experience. The longer you hold their attention the easier it will be to turn them into a paying customer. Article marketing is one of the best ways to promote your website as long as you write a quality informational article. And then post it in e-zines, and the sites that provide free content. E-zine publishers, e-zine magazines, and industry newsletters need a good steady stream of articles that have information of value for their readers. If you promote a product, service, or an affiliate program that corresponds with your article, you have a great chance of getting more traffic to your website. If you have an affiliate program, do not include links in the body of your article. You do not want your advice to sound like you are trying to influence them rather than help them. One important thing to remember, when a customer reads your article they're looking for "what's in it for me!" The benefit of distributing articles in the directories to promote your website is, the more people who read your article the more clicks you get back to your website. This means more traffic to your site. Alexa ranks sites based upon incoming traffic, (you get the picture), and how this will benefit your site. As you can see, article marketing is one of your best marketing tools. When you post your article in e-zines, and the sites that provide free content, you are getting sites with a high page rank sending links back to your website. Many of the sites where your articles appear have high page rank because they are filled with a lot of quality content. This means these links are just about guaranteed to help increase you're standing with search engines. Write as many articles as you possibility can in your industry to keep a steady stream of traffic coming back to your website. Moreover, make sure you choose the right category for your article. The category you choose for your article is very important, so make sure you choose wisely. The most important of all, make sure you put your URL in the bio. Many publications will permit you to include four to six lines to present your contact information. Use article marketing to promote your website as your number one tool, and submit your articles to as many article directories as you possibility can. This is how I promote my web site, and it's free.
