

Breaking Away from a Tedious Life

At a time, the old generation strongly believed that love starts with look. Leaving behind the old ideas and notions, online dating has now become the right medium you need to meet the Mr/Mrs Right. Today, it seems like no one can be lonely unless they prefer to remain so. Time and again, I have been wondering what the online dating sites are all about and why they make people crazy. During my college days, I was a sincere student, devoted only to my studies. All of my friends used to engage themselves in the discussion about some online dating and I used to think that it was nothing but waste of time. After few years, time had changed a lot. All my friends were busy with their life- their profession and family. I had a decent job and I was enjoying my profession. But, within some months everything changed and I found myself lonely and dejected. I couldn't find anyone whom I could share my feelings with- I was completely all by myself. This was when I heard my colleague talking about free online dating websites. I talked to him and got some interesting information about the online dating. He also helped me create my profile in an online dating site. Though I was confused about the way the website works, I selected some profiles that caught my fancy and sent messages to them. To my pleasant surprise, I received a couple of immediate response from the people who were online at that time. I was elated; it was really one of the exciting and pleasing experiences of my life. The next day my excitement knew no bound when I logged on to the same free online dating site immediately after coming back from my office. Soon after that it became a part of my daily life. I noticed a dramatic change in myself within a few months. Some of the people I met on the online dating site have become very good friends. Even I have met with a couple of them physically. Today, I'm no longer lonely with so many good friends around. Thanks to the online dating!
